FALL 1929

ROSES should be abundantly sold in the fall. The past few years have demonstrated the wisdom of this policy, and many of our customers have reported a steady increase in their autumn sales of this important item. The strong amateur interest in Roses, which is responsible entirely for your Rose business, is awakening to the possibilities and advantages of autumn planting; and the wise dealers and nurserymen will be on the job with the Roses when their customers call for them.

Uniform success has followed fall planting of Roses wherever it has been tried. It needs only a little education and an energetic push to increase the autumn Rose sales to something approaching the spring volume, which means increased revenue at a time when it is usually needed, less loss in winter storage and left overs in spring.

Cast an eye over the fine list of new Roses, as well as old standbys which we are offering, and tempt your customers with an assortment of the lovely novelty Roses which we have grown for you.

KOREAN SPIREA

Spiraea trichocarpa

A handsome new Spirea with larger flowers than the common Bridal Wreath, S. Vanhouttei. It is extremely hardy and a wonderful grower, making a large, handsome specimen within a short time. It blooms a little later than the Bridal Wreath and has large, dome-shaped clusters of flowers which are very distinctly "eyed," or marked at the center, so that it does not have quite the same dead-white effect. We are sure this is one of the most valuable new shrubs introduced within the past decade, and we recommend it for general planting.

BEAUTY BUSH

Kolkwitzia amabilis

A lovely, graceful shrub, finer than any weigela ever offered, and covered early in May with the utmost profusion of bloom. The individual flowers are rather small, lipped something like a foxglove, clear pink with brownish spots and veins. The tiny rose-colored buds are fascinatingly hooded with fuzzy jackets which remain to decorate the seed-pods. In all stages and at all seasons it is a lovely thing.
